

■ Named Entity Reference Tags

■ grape: Use for specific varietals or blends.

Examples: Chardonnay, Cabernet Sauvignon, Rosé

Note: Chablis is not a grape — it's a region.

■ region: Geographic origin, from countries to appellations.

Examples: France, Napa, Tuscany, Chablis

✓ OK to tag broad areas (e.g. "French wine")

■ producer: Winery or company that made the wine.

Examples: Missing Link, Duckhorn, Ridge

✓ Includes importers, négociants, etc.

■ price: Mentions of cost, value, or budget.

Examples: $20, under $100, affordable, overpriced

■ style: Describes flavor, body, sweetness, or structure.

Examples: dry, full-bodied, crisp, oaky

■■ Style is about the wine, not the person.

■ occasion: Context for wine usage.

Examples: client gift, dinner party, wedding, picnic

■ Intent Classification Tags

send_email: "Can you email this to the client?"

set_reminder: "Remind me next week to follow up."

follow_up_request: "Hey, did they ever get back to us?"

sample_request: "Can you send me a few bottles to try?"

taste_description: "Very oaky and smooth — just my style."

pairing_suggestion: "What would go well with lamb?"

price_comment: "This was a steal at $15."

quality_judgment: "Honestly, this wine was garbage."

check_shipment_status: "Has the case of Barolo arrived yet?"

gift_request: "I need a $100 red for a holiday gift."

product_recommendation: "Can you recommend a dry white?"

correct_order: "This isn't what I ordered — I asked for Pinot, not Syrah."

misc: "Thanks again for everything!"

■ Tone Tags

neutral — plain, informative cheerful — friendly, upbeat polite — courteous but reserved frustrated — annoyed, impatient angry — aggressive or blunt urgent — time-sensitive, rushed

■ Sample Tagging Breakdown

"This California Pinot was overpriced. I asked for Burgundy."

region: California, Burgundy

grape: Pinot

price: overpriced

intent: correct_order
tone: frustrated